April 19, 2015 – Issue 207

Executive Summary

How to get the best Schedule Reliability

We analyse the value of different Shipper strategies for improving schedule reliability through choosing high performing carriers, and find that Shippers are able to obtain a high level of schedule reliability by using a simple methodical approach.

IMF World Economic Outlook – April 2015

We take a look at the recently published World Economic Outlook by the IMF. The IMF expects that the American and Indian economies will be the major economies that will grow the fastest in the coming years, while recession is expected for Russia and Brazil.

'Free' CO2 reductions?

If shippers rely on the carriers' Carbon Footprint calculators, they can in some cases save 50% of CO2 emissions – on the same services(!)
